HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS
DID THE HONORS*Parents Day Yesterday Afternoon
Delightful at Public School*"DOMESTIC SCIENCE DEPART-MENT" SURPRISE TO VISITORS

Parents' Day at the Earlington Graded and High School yesterday proved to be particularly enjoyable, both to the considerable number of the school's patrons in attendance and to the children and the faculty of the school. Every visitor was escorted by members of the reception committees from the various grades and cordially welcomed by children and teachers. They were started in at the first grade and taken through each room, to inspect the fine and varied display of work done by the pupils. When the visitors reached the upper hall the high school girls took them in charge, had each register again and then introduced them in the most delightful manner to the "New Domestic Science Department." And the pride of these bright, busy girls was wholly justified in the unusual welcome they gave and in the beautiful refreshments they served all comers—refreshments prepared by their own hands. There were sandwiches, dainty and delicious, superior coffee with whipped cream and other things. And everybody was "at home."

There was a great deal of meritorious work displayed, and in very attractive manner, all showing excellent progress. Perhaps the writing, the music, the drawing, the manual work and the art work display attracted the most general interest and favorable comment. Washington and Lincoln and Longfellow sentiments, with a touch of St. Valentines were everywhere in evidence.

Prof. Dudley made a short talk to the visitors who remained after the inspection of work, and the serving of refreshments had finished. Regular classes were held yesterday morning. Today there will be a full holiday in honor of the first President.

Rev. J. W. Graham, of Louisville, will preach at the local Christian church Sunday morning and evening. Bro. Graham has made a number of visits to our city and all who have ever heard him are anxious that their friends come and enjoy the rare treat of hearing the Gospel message from this valiant old soldier of the cross.

JOYOUSLY THEY WENT A-SHRINING*Special Train From Earlington and Madisonville Yesterday*RIZPAH TEMPLE WENT WITH THE GOODS TO OWENSBORO

It was an enthusiastic bunch that left here yesterday noon en route for Owensboro, via Madisonville, headed by illustrious Potentate George O. Atkinson, of Rizpah Temple, and the Shriners' Band composed of Earlington talent under the leadership of that distinguished hornblower Dan M. Evans. And the railroad men were the happiest in the crowd, for their Friend and train-master Wise had fixed things so that every trainmen-shriner on the Henderson division, who so desired, could go and enjoy these festivities. Madisonville augmented the party largely and Hopkinsville and Illinois Central points were well represented. Every member of the train crew was a shriner, and all were in their festive when they left Earlington. The line-up was J. T. Gogging, engineer, J. E. Vaught, fireman, Ed Haefer, conductor, B. L. Meacham, flagman. The occasion of this pilgrimage was a big class of novitiates at Owensboro, and Mahomet would not go to the mountain. The special train returned during the early hours of this morning, making a slow and circuitous journey home after having lost its switch key at Owensboro. All the Shriners went except the editor and two train dispatchers, the postmaster and a "Wop" or two.

BAND SUGGEST*Entertainment Tuesday Evening
Delight to Theatre Full of Folks*STORM HELD NO TERRORS FOR EARLINGTON MUSIC LOVERS

Stormy Tuesday evening proved the devotion of the Earlington people to our local talent and demonstrated again that there are many music lovers among the Earlington people. Reserved seats were practically all taken long before the box office at the Temple Theatre opened that evening. And the curtain rose to a full house full of enthusiasm and appreciation for the boys of the Klub Kentucky Band and the other local talent billed to assist them in giving an evening of great pleasure to the home folks.

The Klub Kentucky band is still in its youth, so far as concerns the age of the organization, but they are beginning to play like veterans under the skillful leadership of their accomplished director, Mr. B. F. Pro. And the band boys, every one of them, will tell you that "Pro's all right!" And so say the music lovers of Earlington. The personnel of this band is unusual. It is composed of professional and business men, railroad men and others, in it not on a commercial basis but for the love of the art, and every man owns his instrument, some of them more than one. The instruments, too, are fine ones and of the best make.

An especial feature of the program was the rendition of the "Klub Kentucky March," composed by Mr. Pro and dedicated by him to the local band, this being its first public rendition. The work of L. O. Wiley on the clarinet, in solo and other parts, came in for a great deal of well merited praise. There was a general air of excellent work and good control all through the various instruments, and at the other end of the band Charles, Trahern's baritone and John Long's bass arose on occasion in well modulated and true tone to share in the general praise and approval generously bestowed by the audience. The program was varied and contained eighteen numbers, but it did not drag at a single point and all was enjoyed in spite of the storm.

A talented member of the band is writing an appreciation of the talent that assisted the boys to make the evening good, but we cannot pass those features wholly unnoticed. Miss Bernice Wimberly, of Madisonville, the only participant outside of Earlington, but so nearly home folks through the large acquaintance here of her father, filled a very delightful number and encore with her violin, beautifully accompanied by Miss Olin Prather, of Madisonville. Miss Katie E. Murrell read in her most engaging manner the humorous selection "High Culture in Dixie." Miss Maggie Turner, always our popular songster, sang most sweetly "In the Garden of My Heart." The songs by the mixed and the male quartets struck a popular chord in their quality and humor. And Little Miss Mary Lou Ashby gave her reading, "Sarah Ann" in her bright and catchy juvenile style that always wins.

The stage setting, cannot pass without notice. It was admirable, with hand stand and special lights and pedestals and flowers tastefully arranged upon an artistic plan that commanded the good taste of Messrs. John Long and Chas. Webb, who made and arranged the setting.

'GUILT OF ALL EQUAL'
BASIS ON BOMB CASE*Prosecution Hopes to Show That Each Indicted Man Aided Plot
CHARGES WERE HELD IN RESERVE

Indianapolis, Feb. 19.—New disclosures made in the dynamite conspiracy cases through 40,000 letters and telegrams quoted in the indictments as implicating practically all the officials of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers will be the basis on which the government will seek to convict the fifty-four defendants who are charged with committing or abetting in almost 100 explosions.

The correspondence, contained in one of the thirty-two indictments, charges all the defendants with being equally guilty as abettors.

Four Indictments in Reserve

Four more indictments, not yet made public, supplement the principal indictment containing the correspondence. These indictments name all the fifty-four defendants as implicated in the general conspiracy and make these charges:

That, on thirty-four counts, all the defendants are guilty as principals in illegal transportation of dynamite.

That, on thirty-four counts, McManis, John J. McNamara, James B. McNamara and Hookin are guilty of illegally transporting dynamite, and all the other defendants are guilty of aiding and abetting them.

That, on sixteen counts, all the defendants are guilty as principals in illegal transportation of nitroglycerin.

That, on sixteen counts, McManis, John J. McNamara, James B. McNamara and Hookin are guilty of illegal transportation of nitroglycerin, and all other defendants are guilty of aiding and abetting them.

The wide scope of the thirty-two indictments, which contain in all 128 counts, is due, it is announced, to the theory of the government that the defendants alleged guilty in equal measure how small an individual's personal activity in the conspiracy may have been. District Attorney Miller said it has been determined to press all the counts of the indictments against each of the defendants.

Present Only "Typical" Acts

The indictment setting out unconsummated acts of conspiracy, extensive as it is in presenting a mass of alleged incriminating correspondence between the defendants, said Mr. Miller, "only submits typical acts. If we had chosen, this indictment might have been run into many more hundreds of pages."

"Forty thousand letters were seized in the headquarters of the international ironworkers' association and from them the investigators chose evidence that we consider much more than sufficient to prove our case when offered in connection with corroborative evidence of wide extent and varied character."

"The freedom with which these men put on paper their plans, motives and the working out of their purposes is amazing."

NEW BOMB CASE PROOF
IN GOVERNMENT HANDS*Attorneys Have Copy of Resolution Stopping Outrages During 1910
Convention

Indianapolis, Feb. 19.—To support its contention that many of the officials, national and local, of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers were implicated in the dynamiting conspiracy against "open-shop" employers, the government is prepared to submit as evidence the original copy of a resolution alleged to have been introduced at the ironworkers' national convention at Rochester, N. Y., in 1910, providing that no explosions should take place during the convention.

United States District Attorney Chas. W. Miller today said the resolution was an important piece of evidence in the government's case.

The resolution reads: "Resolved, That no more bombs or explosives of any kind be exploded while this convention is in session."

Had Narrow Escape

C. Y. Cox, a popular fireman on the Evansville accommodation, had a narrow escape Sunday night. He had been in the country to see a girl and was returning to Morganfield about one o'clock in the morning. The horse was going at a gallop on level road when he stumbled and fell breaking his own neck and throwing Mr. Cox several yards and knocking him unconscious. When he came to himself he was laying some distance from the horse with his arm and head covered with blood. The accident occurred in the edge of town and he managed to make his way to the livery stable and notified the owner of the accident to the horse.

Nothing in It

The various rumors that have been circulated here in the past few days in regard to Jas. H. Corbitt being arrested and held at Princeton is without foundation and utterly false. A telephone message from Princeton says Mr. Corbitt is not there and has not been there.

COMPANY G ORDERED

Last Saturday*CAPTAIN AND THIRTY-FIVE MEN LEFT HERE AT MIDNIGHT

Capt. Ott Powers, of this city, received an order from Adj. Gen. Holman yesterday to take Company G to Bardwell, Ky., to be present at trial of Willard Richardson, who shot and killed John Violet, a farmer at Milburn, Carlisle county last Saturday. The company goes heavy marching order to protect from possible mob violence the prisoner. It was expected that Capt. Powers would pick up the prisoner at Paducah and escort him to Bardwell, though this does not agree with news dispatches from Paducah yesterday saying that the prisoner had been taken back to Bardwell and would be left in jail there until the trial on Saturday, and starting that all fear of mob violence had passed. It seems possible that the authorities found it unsafe and brought the prisoner again to Paducah. The officers and a good proportion of the men of Company G have seen active service under war conditions and the company is considered one of the best in the State.
